The Crops in Genesee County.

We took a ride out through Pine Hill and Idleport yesterday, going out on one road, and returning on another, which gave us a fair opportunity to judge of the growing crops in this direction.

We here so much of late about the scarcity of hay, that we were somewhat surprised to see at frequent intervals on the road stacks of last years hay, as well as some of this years growth. If the barns are moderately well filled, with the hay stacked out, there will be no scarcity of fodder the coming winter in this direction.

The orchards are literally borne down with fruit. We saw a great many trees that will require propping to sustain them under their heavy load of apples, and a tree without fruit we found to be an exception from the general fact. A lone farm house we saw a large quantity of cut apples drying in the sun, these undoubtedly will be the first dried-apples of the season.

We saw but few pear trees, but these were generally bearing. Peaches, there are none in this direction, at least we saw none, although we looked out sharp for them.

Indian corn covers a large area and we should think that it promises an average yield, although we fancied perhaps that in many instances we could discern evidences of injury by the frost.

Potatoes look well every where, and are generally in bloom. We were told that they blow more fully this year than they have for years before, and that this is an indication of a good yield. The surface covered by this crop we should judge to be smaller than usual.

Buckwheat covers a large surface and looks well. It is generally in bloom, and gives a pleasing aspect to the landscape. —Pancakes will be cheap and plenty next winter.

Winter wheat is all in, and we should think nearly if not all thrashed, from the stacks of straw. Spring wheat and barley are still on the ground to some extent, but being harvested rapidly. We have no data from which to offer an opinion of the yield further than what has been already stated in this paper. We believe however, that spring wheat has never yielded much if any better than it has this year, but there was not a large surface sown.

Oats generally look pretty well, some fields are uneven, and seem to ripen unevenly probably in consequence of the late dry weather, which has had the effect to bring forward the crop more rapidly in some spots than others.

Passing through the village of Pine Hill, we observed quite a number of recent improvements in dwellings and business places. The ascending westward of the street gives it the air of a Quaker settlement which is the highest complement that can be paid any place.

Idleport is a small place, and we could not help thinking from the contrast in appearance with Pine Hill, that it was rightly named. The street seems to be the back yard of every home for the depositary of old rubbish. The friend beside me remarked that the inhabitants must be people of steady habits or else they would break their necks on venturing out on a dark night. If the neighbors would only make a box and clean out the street and repair the sidewalks it would be a sort of little Paradise, for really, with its ruins, its abundance of shade and fruit trees, it might be a delightful place to live in.

New Books.

The seventh number of Cooper's Novels "the Pilot" published by W. A. Townsend & Co. and illustrated by Darby is before us.

It is a sea tale and is one of the authors most happy efforts, and we have read it with great pleasure.

The perils of the sea, the reverses and successes of the mariner in war are here elegantly delineated, and he who enters upon the reading of it, finds himself impelled onward to its completion.

The author introduces his story in the description of a storm upon the Eastern coast of Great Britain and introduces his hero by a manifestation of unprecedented skill in seamanship in weathering it and conducting the ship through the reefs and rocks of that perilous coast. He gives us a description of the capture of a whale by long "Tom Coffin" an original character, the loss of the ship, capture of an English cutter, marriage and death of some of the actors, and winds up with a return to America and the disappearance of the Pilot. The time of the events referred to seems to have been during the American war with Great Britain for her Independence, and is therefore more interesting to the American reader. We commend the book to all lovers of novel reading.

The President of the Erie Railroad, Mr. Moran, has heretofore been allowed a salary of $25,000 per year. It has just been cut down.

A Railroad Co., that will pay its own President such a salary, and neglect to reward the poor man for services rendered ought to break. The management of the Erie Road has been penny wise and found foolish.

TRIMBLE NORWEGIAN MUSKETOES.—I believe there is no preventive against their bite, which is instantaneous; they dash through the smoke of strong tobacco like a fox hound through a bulfinch; they creep under rail or gloves like a ferret into a rabbit hole; where they can neither dash nor creep, they "hide their own time" with the pertinacious cunning of a red Indian. Wherever the clothes touched the body closely, at the knees and elbows, they swarm in thousands, and bite through and through; they creep in single file up the seams of the gloves, and tried each stitch in succession. I have seen J's coat and hat so covered as he walked in front, that I could at any time kill the snake of my hand in musketoes at a blow; and I have seen the unhappy horses so overlaid from ears to tail with a clustering mass of wings, that, with the point of my finger, I could not but immolate two or three of the blood-thirsty little demons. There is one puzzling question I cannot solve with satisfaction. What do they live on when they don't meet travelers?—Letter from Norway.

VALUATION OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.—The increase in value of property, real and personal, in the city of New York, during the past year, according to the assessment, has been more than twenty millions of dollars.

In 1888, the real estate was valued at about three hundred and sixty-eight millions (in round numbers), and the personal estate at about a hundred and sixty-three millions, making a total of five hundred and thirty-one millions of dollars. In 1889, the returns give—real estate about three hundred and seventy-nine millions, and personal estate nearly one hundred and seventy-three millions, making a total of nearly five hundred and fifty-two millions, or an increase over the last year of nearly twenty-one millions of dollars.

MURDER AT NIAGARA FALLS.—The Lockport Journal says, that a German named Harry Hammer, shot a man named Harriet Byron, at Niagara Falls on Friday night, killing him instantly. It appears that Byron went home intoxicated, and commenced whipping his wife, when Hammer interfered and endeavored to separate them. Byron immediately knocked him down, and commenced beating him severely, saying he would kill him. Hammer, seeing that he could not relieve himself, drew a pistol and shot Byron dead.

The Indianapolis Journal says: The poor-house of Monroe county, in this State, had for one of its inmates a number of years, a sister of Robert Fulton, the originator of the steamboat. She was living some year ago, but we cannot say whether or not she is alive at present. It thus frequently happens that the greatest benefactors of the human race, with their immediate friends, have suffered for the want of pecuniary means. Fulton himself, we believe, died a poor man. His sister in Monroe county was some years his senior.

"Inclined to be Quarrelsome"

There was once a little, slim-built fellow, rich as a Jew, and independent as the devil, riding along a highway in the State of Georgia, when he overtook a man driving a drove of hogs by the help of a big, rawboned, six-foot-two specimen of humanity. Stopping the last named individual, he accosted him—

"I say, are these your hogs?"

"No, sir; I'm to work by the month."

"What pay might you be getting, friend?"

"Ten dollars a month and whisky thrown in, was the reply."

"Well, look here, I'm a weak, little, inoffensive man, and people are apt to impose upon me, d'ye see. Now I'll give you twenty-five dollars a month to ride along with me and protect me," said Mr. Gardner. "But," he added, as a thought struck him, "how are you on a fight?"

"Never been licked in my life," rejoined the six-footer.

"Just the man I want. It's a bargain!" quipped Gardner.

Six-footer ruminated. Twenty-five dollars—double wages—nothing to do but to ride around and smash a fellow's mug occasionally when he's sassy.

Six-footer accepted.

They rode along till, just at night, they reached a village inn. Dismounting at the door, they went in. Gardner immediately singled out the biggest man in the room and picked a fuss with him. After considerable promiscuous jawing, Gardner turned to his fighting friend, and intimated that the licking of that man had become a sad necessity. Six-footer peeled, went in, and came out first best.

The next night, at another hotel, the same scene was reenacted—Gardner, getting into a row with the biggest man in the place, and six-footer doing the fighting.

At last, on the third day, they came to a ferry kept by a huge, double fisted man, who had never been licked in his life. While crossing the river, Gardner, as usual, began to find fault and "blow." The ferryman got mad, threw things around, and told him his opinion of their kind. Gardner turned to his friend and gootly broke the intelligence to him, "that he was sorry, but that it was absolutely necessary to thrash that ferryman."

Six-footer nodded his head, but said nothing. It was plain to be seen that he did not relish the job, by the way he shrugged his shoulders, but there was no help for it. So when they reached the ore, both stripped and at it they went. Up and down the bank, over the sand, in to the water they fought, scabbed, gouged, bit and rolled till, at the end of an hour, the ferryman gave in. Six-footer was triumphant, but it had been tough work. Going up to his employer, he scratched his head for a moment, and then broke forth:

"Look here, Mr. Gardner, your salary suits mighty well, but—I'm—of—the—opinion—that you are inclined to be quarrelsome. Here I've only been with you three days, and have licked the three biggest men in the country! I think this firm had better dissolve, for y-u-u-u, Mr. Gardner, I'm afraid you're inclined to be quarrelsome, and I reckon I'll draw!"

AN APPEAL FOR THE DOGS.—The Reporter of the New Orleans Crescent has evidently got a black and tan or a big Newfoundland that he prizes. Here how he talks against the practice of strychnine offerings that the good people of that city tender the canine men:

It is hard to treat dogs so. They are naturally friendly and confident; they never sleep, only for something to eat; they never get drunk and make boasts of themselves; never pick pockets or break into houses; never commit perjury or willful murder; and never interfere with the human race, only upon a bad column of human insolence, or under the influence of a melody for which they are not individually or doggishly responsible. Doesn't it smack of treachery to come the Lucratic Borgia over such a race of animals?

ECONOMICAL AND WEALTH PRODUCING.—Every child that is born does not add an expense to the community by no manner of means. Besides an addition to the numerical strength of the county, every grocer, merchant, shoemaker, and in fact every mechanic, has his prospects advanced for an increase of business. Humans must eat, drink, wear, walk, ride and suffer. The child commences with the physician, and ends with the undertaker—begins on milk and ends on beer. We would like to know one individual in the community that is not benefiting, directly or indirectly, by the birth of every child—whether it be a boy or the other sex. We pause for are ply.—Buffalo Republic.

Altered $1 bills on the bank of Cohoes raised to $10 are already in circulation. As the bank have not issued bills of the latter denomination, it will be easy to guard against imposition.

The attention of Inspectors of Election and County Canvassers is directed to chap. 371, of Laws of 1899, a copy of which is printed herewith, for instructions in regard to their duties under said act, "submitting to the people a law authorizing a loan of two million five hundred thousand dollars, to provide for the payment of the floating debt of the state."

CHAP. 371. AN ACT to submit to the people a law authorizing a loan of two million five hundred thousand dollars, to provide for the payment of the floating debt of the state.

Passed April 13th, 1899.—The People of the State of New York represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The commissioners of the canal fund are hereby authorized to borrow on the credit of the state two million five hundred thousand dollars, at a rate not exceeding six per cent, per annum, and reimbursable at such periods as shall be determined by the said commissioners, not exceeding eighteen years from the time of making such loan. All the provisions of law in relation to loans made by commissioners of the canal fund, and the issue and transfer of certificates of stock, shall apply to loans authorized by this act, so far as the same are applicable.

§ 2. The moneys realized by such loan shall be applied exclusively to the payment of claims against the state not otherwise provided for, for work done on the canals of the state, and for private property appropriated by the state for the use of such canals, and for injury to private property growing out of the construction of the canals or to the payment of the principal and interest of such loan, and for no other purpose whatever.

§ 3. Two million five hundred thousand dollars is hereby appropriated, to be paid out of the treasury, on the warrant of the auditor of the canal department, from the said moneys, within two years from the time when this act shall take effect, for the payment of claims against the state, specified in the last preceding section, and for the payment of the interest on the loan authorized by this act, which shall become payable prior to the receipt into the treasury of the first annual tax, hereinafter directed to be levied and collected, for the payment of the interest and principal of the loan authorized by this act; but any sum applied to pay interest as aforesaid, may be refunded out of the proceeds of the said taxes when received into the treasury.

§ 4. An annual tax is hereby imposed, and shall be levied and collected in the same manner as other state taxes are levied and collected, sufficient to pay the interest and redeem the principal of the loan hereby authorized, within eighteen years from the time of the contracting thereof. The comptroller shall ascertain and determine what sum, being applied in payment of principal and interest, in the first year after the tax can be collected as aforesaid, and in each succeeding year thereafter, within a period of eighteen years from the time of contracting said loan, will be sufficient to pay the interest and redeem the principal of said loan within said period of eighteen years; and shall in each year appropriate the sum so required among the several counties of this state, according to the then last corrected assessment rolls returned to his office, and shall give notice of such appropriation to the boards of supervisors of the respective counties. It shall be the duty of the board of supervisors of the respective counties to cause the amount so appropriated to each year to be levied, and levied and paid to the treasurer of this state in the same manner as other state taxes. The moneys collected and paid into the treasury under this section shall constitute a sinking fund to pay the interest and redeem the principal of the loan authorized by this act, and shall be accordingly applied to that purpose; and if at any time the sinking fund shall be insufficient to comply with the requirements of this section, the comptroller shall increase the sum therefor to be levied and collected by tax in such year, so as to make the fund adequate for the purpose aforesaid.

§ 5. The fourth section of this act, imposing a tax may be repealed whenever the proceeds of the canals, after meeting all present and contingent charges upon them, shall amount in enough to form a sinking fund sufficient to pay the interest and redeem the principal of all loans without the eighteen years mentioned in the first section of this act.

§ 6. This act shall be submitted to the people of this state, at the next election, and the vote given for its adoption, shall be endorsed "Constitutional loan," and shall be in the following form: "For a loan of two million five hundred thousand dollars to pay the floating debt of the state," and "Against a loan of two million five hundred thousand dollars to pay the floating debt of the state." The inspectors of the several election districts in this state, shall provide a separate box, in which the ballot given in pursuance of this act shall be deposited. The ballots shall be canvassed and returned, and the result shall be voted given in the office of Governor of this State, and certified in the same manner as other If a majority of the votes cast, pursuant to this act, shall be "For a loan of two million five hundred thousand dollars to pay the floating debt of the state," then the comptroller of this act shall take effect; but if a majority of the votes cast, shall be "Against a loan of two million five hundred thousand dollars to pay the floating debt of the state," then the said act shall not take effect, but shall be inoperative.

You are without delay to deliver every office where notice to the inspectors of the election of each town or ward in your county, and also to cause a copy of said notice to be published in all the public newspapers printed in your county, once in each week until the election.

Yours respectfully,
OTIS J. THURMAN, Secy of State.

horse-thieves and robbers, which infest the territory. One or two victims had suffered a death penalty, and others were punished till they confessed their crime and exposed their associates.

The committee disbanded after gaining sufficient knowledge to effect the destruction of the different gangs.

STARTLING EVIDENCE.

LET THE SILENT SPEAK.—The Boston Scalpel, a medical publication, says: Dr. Herrick's Sugar Coated Pills, made at Albany, N. Y., appear to be the pill of the world. Dr. H. makes no secret of their compound; he furnishes all physicians in good standing with the receipt of their ingredients, and with the Pills, sugar coated, by the pound. Among all medicine manufacturers, Dr.
Herrick stands in Medical knowledge and medical responsibility, unapproached. As Spring is upon us, and hot weather expected, and a few doses of Herrick's Matchless Pills.—[Dundee Record.]

PHYSICIANS USE THEM.

Dr. C. T. Pannost, of Baltimore, M. D., a note to Dr. Herrick, says: I have tested your purgative Sugar Coated Pills in a variety of diseases, and find them superior to any cathartic I ever used. My customers, particularly the female portion, have fallen in love with them, and frequently ask me to give them the Sugar Coated Pill. Your discovery in coating a pill with sugar should immortalize your name, and I doubt not your invention will be handed down to future posterity as a discovery worthy the day in which we live. Please accept my thanks for the case of pills which reached me this morning by express.

Sewing Machine Co.

(Having greatly increased their facilities for manufacturing their celebrated Family Machines, with all the recent improvements, have reduced their prices, and offer for sale

A NEW STYLE MACHINE,
PRICE $50.

It is no longer questioned that these Machines are the best in use for family sewing. They SEW, FELT, GATHER, AND STITCH in the most superior manner, and are the only machines in the market that are so well and simply made, that they may be sent into families with no other instructions than are contained in a circular which accompanies each machine, and from which

A CHILD OF TEN YEARS
may readily learn to use them, and keep them in order. They make upwards of

FIFTY HUNDRED STITCHES A MINUTE and will do the sewing of a family cheaper than a seamstress can do it, even if she works at the rate of

ONE CENT AN HOUR.

Is there a husband, father or brother in the United States who will permit the drudgery of hand sewing in his family, when a Grover & Baker Machine will do it better, more expeditiously, and cheaper than can possibly be done by hand?
